

SENATE TO INDORSE NICARAGUAN TREATY

POLICY OF PROTECTION OVER CENTRAL AMERICAN NATION CERTAIN OF RATIFICATION.

INTEREST IN EUROPE

Powers Seek Information in Regard to New Method of Handling the Latin-American States.

Washington, July 21.—Strong support has developed in the senate for President Wilson's policy of protection and supervision over Nicaragua and informal policy of the committee on foreign relations today indicated that the treaty proposed Saturday by Secretary Bryan will be endorsed with a safe margin of votes and come into the senate with the backing of influential members of both parties. It became known definitely today that the proposal does not bind the United States to any obligation for the outstanding debts of Nicaragua.

Now that Secretary Bryan's proposal for a virtual protectorate over Nicaragua has become public, state department officials are expecting inquiries from the European powers respecting its details. Most of the diplomatic representatives of the European powers are absent from Washington at the summer embassies and legations in the north, and consequently no views from that quarter are available.

The suggestion, however, that the plan be extended to cover all the territory near the Panama Canal zone, has aroused the keenest interest in Latin-American circles with some hints of opposition. Salvador recently made some objections to the Nicaraguan treaty in its original form and Costa Rica more recently objected to certain provisions relating to the proposed canal route, but the latter are based solely upon a claim for consideration in connection with the use of the San Jose river, which Costa Rica claims as her territory.

Europe's interest, however, is chiefly in the investments of her citizens in enterprises and securities of Latin America. An association representing those interests has recently been supported by the British, French and German governments and very recently Great Britain made a naval demonstration against Guatemala to force the interests of her bonds. The object of European representations will be to see that provision for guaranteeing such obligations is made if treaties such as that proposed with Nicaragua.

Secretary Bryan will confer on the project with the senate foreign relations committee next Saturday. His plan is said to have the support of President Wilson.

Assistant Secretary Osborne's recent visit to Santo Domingo and Haiti has brought up the suggestion that the systems of American supervision of customs collection which has been in force for some time in Santo Domingo might be extended to Haiti if that Republic is responsive to overtures.

STATE LIQUOR MEN MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Janesville Will Probably Not Be Represented at Convention of Retail Dealers.

Janesville retail liquor dealers will probably not be represented at the annual convention of the state association which will be held in Milwaukee this week beginning Tuesday and closing on Thursday, according to a statement of a local saloon man today. The Janesville liquor dealers have had no meeting, he said, and have named no delegates.

At the convention at Watertown last year Janesville was chosen as the next meeting place of the association, but owing to the present retail agitation and other conditions the executive board of the organization was notified by the local committee in April that it would not be advisable to hold a meeting in this city this year and a change was consequently made in favor of Milwaukee.

Notice: Regular meeting of Daughters of Isabella will be postponed until first Monday in August.

HOT CONGRESSIONAL CONTEST IN JERSEY

Successor to be Elected to Late Lewis J. Martin—Has National Political Significance.

Hackensack, N. J., July 21.—The campaign in the Sixth congressional district of New Jersey closed today, preparatory to tomorrow's election of a successor to the late Representative Lewis J. Martin. The contest is attracting wide attention from the fact that it is regarded as the first real test of public sentiment on the Democratic administration and the tariff measure since President Wilson took office and the Democrats came into control of both houses of Congress last March.

Normally the district is strongly Democratic. The late Representative Martin, Democrat, was elected last November by a plurality of nearly 7,000 votes over his Republican and Progressive opponents. He received 65,216 votes, which was almost equal to the votes for both of the other candidates.

The candidates who will be voted for tomorrow are: Archibald C. Hart, Democrat; Steven McCleave, Republican; Herbert N. Bailey, Progressive; and Henry M. Dutt, Prohibitionist.

MEET TO DISCUSS PROBLEM OF SAVING COUNTRY CHURCH

Manhattan, Kas., July 21.—Many rural pastors, educators and others assembled at the State Agricultural College here today to discuss the important problem of the country church and its future. It is declared there are upwards of 1,000 country churches in Kansas abandoned and deserted because of lack of interest in church work. The problem is one that is common to all of the middle Western states.

Chiefly responsible for the decline of the church in the small community. Owing to the coming of the motor car to the farm, distance has become such a small factor that the farmer who owns a machine is tempted to leave the little church in the country and take his family to the larger house of worship in town, where he will hear a pipe organ and a better choir, and where the pews are a little more comfortable. As a result, many rural churches have been deserted.

The Embarrassment of Ignorance

A group of women were sitting on a hotel porch discussing cameles.

"I have one of chiffon-cloak," said one woman.

"Mine is point d'esprit. I think it is so much daintier," said another.

"Mine has the cutest little rosebuds on it," said a third. And so the stream of comments ran on.

Finally a new voice joined in with the question, "What are you all talking about? What is a camele?"

Every face was turned toward the questioner. The gentle stream changed to a torrent of inquiries.

"Don't you know? Where have you been? Where are your eyes? Haven't you read the papers?" etc.

There is nothing so embarrassing to a woman as finding herself ignorant of some new thing that her friends are not only discussing but wearing. This woman had read the advertisements of the good newspapers regularly she could never have overlooked the existence of cameles.

Do you know what cameles are? If you don't you may find yourself in her position at any moment. Better begin now to read the advertising columns regularly so that you won't be caught in a similar predicament on that or any other subject of apparel.

MULHALL STARTS ANEW TO TELL TALES ON LOBBY QUESTION

Prominent New York Financier's Letter Given as Testimony in Lobby Trial—Wife Aided Mulhall.

Washington, July 21.—Refreshed by a two days' rest, Martin M. Mulhall, former lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers continued his story today before the senate investigating committee.

A letter from Thomas Gibson, a New York financial writer from whom David Lamar testified he got information to base his charge of an eighty-two million dollar forgery on the books of the Union Pacific railroad, was put in the record. Gibson wrote he did not know Lamar did not now believe there was a forgery and was sending out a retraction to his subscribers. Paul D. Cravath, counsel for the railway, put in a letter from a firm of public accountants explaining the apparent discrepancies upon which Lamar based his sensational charge.

The late representative Henry C. Loudenslager of New Jersey, secretary of the republic congressional committee in 1905 seemed to have incurred the enmity of Mulhall in October of that year.

Mulhall wrote to Secretary Schwedtman of the manufacturers:

"I told this gentleman that the manufacturers of this country were tired of pinhead politics and pinhead politicians. When I was through Mr. Loudenslager offered an apology, claiming that he would be good from this time on, but I plainly gave him to understand that when he comes in for re-nomination he would here from our people."

Mulhall did not fully explain why he had fallen out with Loudenslager. Schwedtman wrote Mulhall in October:

"I do hope that when James E. Watson of Indiana gets in the governor's chair he will lay a half dozen of his good friends over his knees and spank them to beat the band including your special friend, Senator Beveridge. I hate false friends more than I do the worst enemies."

Mulhall said all his accounts were kept by an agent who accompanied him on his trips, evidently his wife.

"She was driven crazy in the sixth New Jersey campaign. She kept all my accounts and she was the best politician I ever knew."

It is maintained by the railroad that the viaduct was unsafe. This is admitted by the city, but the corporation and the municipality have been unable to agree on terms for its rebuilding.

MEXICAN SITUATION FAST APPROACHING DANGEROUS CRISIS

Rebellion-Torn Republic Faces Up Hevel That Will Mean Downfall of Huerta Government.

Washington, July 21.—Alarming reports of an approaching crisis in Mexico have been received here by high government officials. It was authoritatively stated today upon impeccable authority that the developments of the coming two weeks are regarded as fraught with tremendous importance to the Huerta government.

So delicate is the information they contain that an intimation of the advice became known today only with the stipulation that it was unofficial and that it should not be represented as being the view of any official of the United States government.

Authoritative publication of the nature of the advice, it was said, probably would precipitate the very crisis the dispatches forecast. The means by which the predicted events were to be brought to pass or what was to follow were not hinted at in the report, which so far has found no reflection in military or naval preparations by the United States.

Meanwhile the administration is marking time on the Mexican problem pending the arrival of Ambassador Wilson from Mexico City, who is expected by Thursday or Friday.

President Wilson finds himself in the same state of doubt as to actual conditions in the rebellion-torn republic as he did when in the hope of setting at the facts, he summoned the American ambassador to the capital. He realizes that even the Americans scattered throughout Mexico individually are unable to get a comprehensive view of the situation in the whole country, their judgment being affected by purely local events. From the Mexican capital come reports that have turned every engagement into a federal victory and so far the administration has heard absolutely nothing except through the press reports from the constitutional side of the case.

This has led to an intimation that information of reliable character from that source would be welcomed by the administration. At the request of Secretary Bryan, Surgeon General Blue of the public health service has ordered quarantine officers at Havana and Key West to expedite the passage of Ambassador Wilson.

Fisher who stated that he was anxious to clear up this case before Mr. Dunwiddie resumed his duties which he on Friday next.

Mrs. Buob is charged with having sold a quantity of beer to a customer last Sunday afternoon. The police are said to have important evidence for the state's side of the case.

ing to Washington to Report First hand on the situation under Huerta, while American soldiers are on tip-toe awaiting the possible order, so long expected, to cross the Mexican border.

Even if the trouble blows over, Ambassador Wilson may not again be sent to Mexico. He has been in close association with President Huerta and has urged Huerta's recognition by the United States.

Wilson, it is said, bears a joint complaint from the diplomatic body in Mexico City concerning the attitude of the United States toward the Huerta government.

Kaiser, President Huerta, Ambassador Wilson and detachment of American troops close to the line who may be ordered any day to advance on Mexico City.

The inquiry of the kaiser as to what America proposes to do about the chaotic conditions in Mexico has brought Ambassador Wilson hurry.

RAT TRAP SETS ITSELF

Flies Back Into Position as Each Victim is Disposed of.

A simple and ingenious rat trap has been designed by a Minnesota man. The chief feature of this trap is that it sets itself immediately after each victim is captured and there is no blood to wash off, no springs to set and no danger of injuring the fingers. An inclined board rests upon the edge of a platform that is tilted with water. At the top of the board is a platform that is pivoted just a little beyond the center and a wire that projects above this platform and over the center of the platform a piece of cheese. The rat ascends the plank and walks out on the platform to get the cheese. When he gets past the center the platform tilts and drops him into the water, automatically returning to a horizontal position. Such a trap can catch as many rats as the plank will hold.

LIFE-SAVING SUIT

Pneumatic Belt Attached to Waist of Waterproof Garment.

The life saving suit devised by a Maryland man and shown herewith seems to provide for all contingencies. A union suit of waterproof material has a hood at the top and a pair of trousers fitting upon it. Around the waist is a cylindrical casing with a pneumatic tube in it and designed to constitute a pneumatic belt. These suits are kept in quantities on a ship, packed flat, and when the need arises are to be donned and the pneumatic belt inflated. Equipped with such a suit, a man can leap overboard with perfect safety. If he does not know the first thing about swimming, the belt will support him adequately and he has the advantage of having both arms and legs free to govern his course as far as possible, while with the belt around his waist, instead of under his arms, his head is well above water.

INCONSISTENT HOWL OF RECALL ELEMENT REGARDS UTILITIES

Some Facts on the Reassessment Conducted at Mr. Maxfield's Behest by Which These Same Utilities Were Benefitted.

In the desperate but futile efforts of the members of the Recall Campaign Committee to fasten something on Mayor Fathers, frequent insinuations (to put it mildly) have been made that he was inclined to favor the public utilities at the expense of the poor. No evidence whatever has been furnished to that effect, and only the people who have been paying taxes to Mr. Fathers for years, if they give the matter a consideration, will realize that there is absolutely no foundation for such stories and the public utilities know without giving the matter a thought, that they are untrue.

Now, just to show the thinness of the glass in the houses from which these poisoned stones were thrown, a few facts will be given. In the year that Messrs. Nichols and Maxfield were on the Board of Review, Assessor Davey of the First Ward raised the assessment of the Electric Light Co., which had always been abnormally low in comparison with the other utilities, from $150,000 to $300,000. It appeared before the Board in protest of this assessment, and the amount was reduced to $175,000.

In the reassessment of the City, the amount was increased to over $250,000, and the assessments on the other public utilities were reduced. The present assessment on the Electric Co. is in excess of $316,000. Have any of the public utilities ever received any such favor as this from Mayor Fathers? Well, not so that anyone could notice it. This reassessment was responsible for Mr. Maxfield alone was responsible was supposed to have laid him away politically at least—forever. In fact it was so awful as to even daze Mr. Maxfield and he actually retired from public life—only to hop into the first wagon that came along—even if the occupants were not just to his liking.

The manufacturers of this city were raised to a higher valuation than are those of any other city in the state. While the hue and cry is why don't we get more factories, this very reassessment had a tendency to drive what few we have out of the city. It is simply an impossibility for the tax commission to secure an assessment in Beloit at any where near the true value of the manufacturing plants and in consequence that city is threatened with a reassessment.

Now, who were the beneficiaries of this reassessment? In looking over the list we find that the Gas Company was refunded $1,494.85. Mark you, this company had not protested against the original assessment and is perfectly satisfied. The Water company which Mr. Maxfield had been fighting for years (for political purposes only) was handed $501.76. The Electric company did not receive anything on account of its previous low assessment. Of yes, those mansions on the hill of which we have heard so much. The taxes on each and every one of them was lowered, including of course the residences of the "Big Six" of whom we have heard so much. Now where did this money come from? The most of it came out of the pockets of the poorest tax payer in the city, and Mr. Maxfield the chairman of the Recall Campaign Committee, directed and only cause of this interchange of money from the pockets of the poor to the pockets of the rich.

Now what did Mr. Fathers do, notwithstanding that he had nothing to do with this catastrophe, that it occurred before he went into office, that as mayor it was no part of his duties to collect taxes, he did day after day make out receipts, and explain to these poor people why their taxes were so much higher, and while he could afford them no immediate relief he gave advice as to how to protect themselves in the future. It is fortunate for Mr. Maxfield that he was not forced to face these same people himself.

Facts speak the loudest and in this campaign the people are insisting upon facts alone.

Janesville, Wis., July 21, 1913.

Janesville Gazette: First, I wish to say a few words about the platform of the recall element. They claim that there are gambling joints, and houses of ill-repute in Janesville, and that if they are interested in the welfare of Janesville, why don't they report them to Mayor Fathers so that he can take action, to have them removed. And how do these recall promoters know that there are gambling joints and houses of ill-repute in existence? In talking with some voters that are supporting Mr. Nichols, I told them that if they could tell me of just one good thing that Nichols did, when he was mayor, or I would vote for him. And they could not tell me of one single thing that he ever done for the welfare of Janesville while he was Mayor. And what then? What does Mr. Nichols know about love for a son or daughter and what a help it is in raising them with good moral surroundings, as he has no children. And Mayor Fathers has that love for children. I think that that Mr. Nichols is looking for is the money side, and not Janesville's good, or for the laboring man's good. It seems funny to me that some men will bow to his calling and support him when should he be elected (God grant that shall never be) he would not give a poor man a pleased look. Now, Mr. Voter, do we have to have some one from Missouri come here and show us how to run this town as the Rockford paper says about the recall element in Janesville. A VOTER.

Editor Gazette:

I want to tell my personal experience with C. Nichols when he was mayor. I went down to drop some letters in the postoffice in the afternoon on a Sunday, and I saw a bunch of young boys enter a back door of a saloon. I went back to the lobby of the Myers house and saw in the corner there and talked with a traveling man for at least an hour, and in looking up across Milwaukee street bridge I saw this same bunch of young boys coming down the street so intoxicated that they could not keep on the walk, and the traveling man said: "What kind of a town is this; look at those boys; is not this town supposed to be closed on Sundays? I answered: "Yes, it is supposed to be," and said I am going to see the mayor in the morning and tell him about this. Monday morning I called on the harness shop, then on River street, and found Mr. Nichols. I introduced myself and told him what I saw in regard to the boys Sunday. Yes, he said, he had not doubt it was a fact, but with the present council it was impossible to do anything about it, as seven of the ten aldermen would go in the back door of the saloons on Sunday themselves, and it would do no good for him to take the matter up. I said that I supposed that the mayor could give orders to the chief of police closed on Sunday according to law, and especially against such young boys. Oh, well, he said, it would not do any good, and then he was well aware that he owed his election to the office he was holding to the saloon men, and thought he could hardly be expected to take a stand against them alone, and I remember I did not receive any encouragement. Fathers and mothers, please think this over. Seriously it is a vital question for Janesville, and do your duty on election day.

If it is necessary I will name the saloon where the boys went in. Very truly,
P. S. PETERSON.

The Editor of Gazette:— On Sunday, July 20th, forenoon, Buob's light wagon and horse, driven by Louis Brummond, the ex-saloon keeper, now holding a position as driver for Buob's brewery, drove through Monterey with a load of beer, all covered with straw. Near the Monterey bridge the driver picked up all his friends, known as the "tough element" of Monterey, all of Nichols' followers and they drove west of the city. Now this beer was bought by Mr. Nichols or his committee and I think it a shame to allow a brewery wagon driven by their own driver, to pass through the streets of our city on a Sunday, with a load of beer, with the owner of said brewery under arrest for a similar offense of a week ago. Now citizens of Janesville, it's time to see that the laws of the state are enforced. Do we want the leader of this bunch to be our next mayor. It's time the residents of Monterey woke up and demanded a peaceful Sunday bridge fixed for nothing. If so, why did he not go so and save the city $600 and not wait till now to crow about it. A CITIZEN.

EDWIN E. EDDINGTON DIED ON SATURDAY

Resident of Janesville for Fifty Years
Succumbs After a Prolonged Illness.

Edwin E. Eddington, for nearly fifty years a resident of this city, passed away at his home, 1608 Clark street, at 3:25 o'clock Saturday afternoon, after a prolonged illness. Mr. Eddington was born in Erie county, New York, Oct. 15, 1834. He came with his parents to Kenosha county, Wisconsin, in 1840, and lived there until he grew to manhood. He served in the Civil war, having enlisted with Company C, 35th Regiment Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, May 17, 1864, and was honorably discharged in September of the same year.

He came to Janesville in 1895 and has resided here during the remainder of his life. He conducted a blacksmith shop on North First street for many years, but was forced to retire from active business a few years ago on account of failing health. A man of sterling character and noble qualities, he enjoyed the respect of all who knew him. He was a kind and loving father and husband.

He was united in marriage on November 4, 1874, to Martha Elizabeth Remond, of the town of Prairie. Besides many friends he leaves a wife and four children: Mrs. Jesse Earle of this city, Mrs. Gene Oliver of Chicago Heights, Ill., Arthur R. Eddington of Racine, Wis., and Fay E. Eddington of Rockford, Ill. He also leaves one brother, M. A. Eddington of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Betsy Lockwood of Clinton, Minn., and Mrs. Lucius H. Lee of this city. His funeral will be held from the residence at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be made at Oak Hill cemetery.

This is the beginning of what is expected to become one of the greatest ports in the world. ELECTRIC TARGET

Motor Keeps Carriage Moving Backward and Forward.

An electrical attachment for a target which is used on rifle ranges has been patented by an Australian. It keeps the target continually in motion so that when a hit is made it means something. An electric motor on the target carriage connects with a battery that keeps the carriage moving backward and forward on the track. In the case of the target shown in the illustration the figures are constantly in action, and it is an entirely different proposition to hit one, especially in a vulnerable spot, than if they were stationary. Such a target is particularly good for use in the militia or the regular army, as in the case of war it is not likely that the enemy would stand still until somebody succeeded in shooting them.

Trees and Lightning.
The electrical resistance of trees is quite great, a quality which protects them to a considerable degree from lightning stroke. This resistance varies greatly with the character of the tissues and also with the temperature. This fact results in an annual and daily period of resistance. The cambium layer shows the least electrical resistance, followed by the phloem and sapwood.

MRS. WORRY. YES, A CHANGE IS REFRESHING.

SPORT Snap-Shots

Rough stuff in the American Association is going to be sternly sat upon by the league head, Mr. Chivington. This season has seen quite a bit of brutality among the A. A. players in their dealing with one another and in fact a game without a bruised beeper on one side or an eye with a shanty hung on it, on the other is very uncommon. A few days ago in Columbus, Catcher Smith of Columbus and Infielder Jack Flynn of Indianapolis had a run-in and pounded each other mercilessly. The dispute is said to have arisen over Flynn's expectorating at Smith right in the face, which Smith seemed to resent. Both players were fined and both clubs were heavily fined. Mr. Chivington declares that the next A. A. players that try to start anything will be fined something awful. Smith, by the way, put it all over Flynn in that fight, and was glad of it.

When Frank Chance got Roger Peckenpaugh from Cleveland, Roger had been warming the bench for the Naps and had been considered considerable of a quince in the matter of batting. His fielding at short had always been a thing of beauty, but his failure to connect with any regularity had kept him out of the game. Peckenpaugh went to the Naps with the reputation of being a wonderful fielder, but a very, very punk batsman. Baseball's a funny game. Since playing with Chance's outfit around the lot and mounding the ball all around the lot and neighborhood, but lamming the pellet in great shape to the tune of .300, Chance is elated with the showing Roger has made and is not at all annoyed by his erratic fielding. Warning the Naps' bench for a protracted while explains that. And his defensive work has been picked up an awful lot in the last week or so. Around Peckenpaugh Chance hopes to build up slowly but surely a regular baseball bunch and he's keeping his eye on 1914.

Tennis is a game that certainly requires a large amount of skill, speed, dexterity and an awful lot of practice. So that Cleveland tennis followers were quite agog when Harold Paddock went into the city tournament and all but swept things up with Gordon Minor, one of the best and cleverest players in Cleveland. For Paddock had never had a racket in his hands three weeks before the tournament opened. With-out a lawford or a job, but simply a lot of nerve and undeveloped aptitude for the game, Paddock put up a wonderful exhibition. He is expected to prove a wizard at the game in another season.

Just because Manager Frank of the New Orleans Pelicans told him he was putting up a rotten game of ball, Ray Spencer, outfielder, hauled off and poked Frank in the eye. Which was as far as he got, for it seems that Frank is pretty handy with his dukes and he pounded the tar out of Spencer. Not only that but he discharged Spencer. So that henceforth Spencer should hand in his resignation before trying to beat up his boss, thus sparing himself the humiliation of being licked and canned at the same time.

The Janesville Cubs scheduled a game against the Beloit Athletics, and after strengthening their lineup and putting in a new battery, they were able to win their first game put them in a safe lead. In the sixth and seventh innings Mullen only pitched ten balls, four of these being delivered in the lucky inning.

Double Header.

The Janesville Cubs scheduled a game against the Beloit Athletics, and after strengthening their lineup and putting in a new battery, they were able to win their first game against this team by a ten to seven score. "Andy" Connel done the stalling duties and held the Beloiters in his mercy.

The visitors gained an early lead over the Janesville team because Brown, the Cub backstop, was unable to stand the smoke that Connel put on the pill and after five runs had been scored gave way to Pinneran.

The White Sox are to meet the Athletics at Beloit, August second.

Evidently Knew His Townsman.

A somewhat personal reference was that of an old Lanarkshire minister who read out for his text the verse in the psalms, "I said in my haste, 'all men are liars,'" and then proceeded to give his sermon in the form of an apostrophe, thus: "Ay, David, ye said it in your haste, did ye? If ye had lived in this parish, ye might have said it at your leisure."

PUGILISTS FACE Dullest WEEK IN MANY YEARS

New York, July 21.—The dullest week the fight game has in years is in prospect. From end of the country to the other there is not a fight of any consequence carded for the ensuing seven days. Evidently the promoters think the weather too hot for a profitable show, or perhaps the knights of the squared circle are all on their summer vacations. All the fight clubs in the metropolis have closed their doors and will not resume business until about Labor day. The Atlantic A. A., where the fight-fans may enjoy their favorite sport and the cool breezes of Rockaway Beach at the same time, is the only oasis in the barren desert. The Atlantic A. A. managers have arranged to give a show tomorrow night with a 10-round bout between Billy Bennett, hailed as the lightweight champion of Ireland, and Harry Gordon of Brooklyn, as the main event.

TOURNAMENT FOR WESTERN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP ON

Chicago, Ill., July 21.—The fifteenth annual tournament for the amateur championship of the Western Golf Association got under way today on the links of the Homewood Country Club at Glenview, and will be continued through the remainder of the week.

The program for the opening day called for an elimination round of 18 holes, medal play, the first 64 to continue at medal play tomorrow morning, to qualify 32 for match play. The entry list, while not so large as at some of the former tournaments of the Western association, is of a class that promises keen and interesting competitions.

CLAY COURT TENNIS TITLE PLAYED FOR AT OMAHA

SOX GO CUB HUNTING AND WIN, TEN TO TWO

Mullen Proves Stumbling Block for Cub Batters—Sox Slam Ball to All Corners of Lot.

On Sunday afternoon the Driving Park was the scene of a big bear killing and after the third inning the Janesville White Sox got their scalp. The Sox were in the lead from the first and kept it up right through the game.

The white Soxed nine played excellent ball and their fielding was of the gilt edge variety and should have covered the Cub with white wash. It was not for two costly boots by the Sox infield. The reason of the low score of the Cubs was the superb pitching of Mullen, of Milton, who was supreme eight innings of the nine and not only was exceedingly stingy in giving out hits but was administering the white wash to the Cublets with the exception of the third when the Cubs pushed two runs across. The red headed pitcher of Milton had plenty of "stom" on the ball and uncanny control and sent nine of the Cubs back to the bench in a strike out system. He was aided in cutting off the runs of the Cubs by the brilliant fielding of Connel, Stewart and Britt who made nick ups that were nothing short of sensational and once Jimmy Stewart nulled down a line of a hit off St. Stewart's bat that was of the Hand Wagner order. The Sox had their batting eyes as was evident from the manner in which they tanned the horsehide and these together with the playing of the Cub's first baseman, who gave an excellent example of how not to play first base, nulled the Sox through their ten tallies.

Three twirlers went on the firing line to stop the slugging Sox but none proved able to stop them in their rampage. Captain Spohn started and after the Sox filled the corners and two runs were registered by a two-bagger by Stewart, he decided his team would never win the beacon on his pitching and let "Matty" Ryan take on the hurling duties. Ryan pitched fair ball but failing to get good support, was unable to keep the Sox score down.

In the third inning Mullen began to develop signs of wildness and two men were granted free trips to first and on an error they were both advanced. Mullen began mitting on the tantalizing done and fanned the next man. The next batter fared better for he hit a rounder down to short and a boot allowed the man to score. A Texas leaguer back of the third scored their second and last tally.

The Sox only failed to cut into the run column in three innings and heavy batting by Stewart, who singled and a base and two non-bles out of four times to the plate.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Janesville and vicinity: Continue fair tonight and Tuesday.

LEST WE FORGET.

On Tuesday the voters of Janesville will decide whether they will turn the city over to the element who seek a wide open town or whether they will retain the present city official, James A. Fathers, to continue his work of enforcing the laws and ordinances in the name of decency. It is up to the voters and it is to be hoped that they will turn out in sufficient numbers to decide the question once and for all.

The past week has been a strenuous one. Seeking to evade the real issue of the campaign—law or lawlessness—the recall element have sought to blind the eyes of the public by mis-statements, talk of an invisible form of government, catch phrases taken from socialistic primers, and deliberate attempts to intimidate voters who opposed them.

The campaign closes this evening. Early in the past week an invitation was extended to the leaders of the recall, to have representatives at the Myers theatre on Friday or Monday evenings to openly discuss the merits of the case. This challenge was not accepted but in its place the recallists issued a defiance and gave the Court House Park as a meeting place. Monday evening was named.

It is safe to say that while the recall element will listen to the contortion of the truth, the raising of phantom issues, in the Court House park tonight, the meeting at the Myers theatre, where a second gathering of the supporters of decent government will be held, will be well attended.

The recallists have evaded the issue. They injected into the campaign talk of the purchase of the Water Works being delayed, unmindful of the real facts in the case, of the impossibility to undo the mistakes of the recallists' candidate for mayor and his chief supporter, then city attorney, without court action. They discussed the construction of the Fourth avenue bridge, forgetting that the bridge was built on plans drawn up by the same men who again seek control of city affairs.

They discussed the vice problem, asserted that disorderly characters still reside in Janesville and intimate they would clear them up, but forgetting to curb the tongue of one of their committee members, who openly declared for their presence and urged the men of Janesville to stand by the unfortunates, for whom they were responsible. They disclaim the charge they stand for a wide open town, but forget that when their candidate for mayor was in office it was easy enough to get drinks nights, days or Sundays, that vice flourished, young girls were enticed into wine rooms to their ruin, boys made drunkards.

They deplored the injection of women into the campaign, women whose only object was to insure decency and protection of the home, yet dragged into the limelight, with signed statements two women to support their own contentions. They inject the spirit of class hatred, labor against capital, into discussions, and yet the chairman of one of their meetings states that his company pays more for labor in Beloit than in Janesville. Why the distinction? They talk of the rich and the poor, yet have as advisors men who have fattened their purses by evasion of the laws. It is a distinction without a difference.

Every method known to cunning politicians has been used to influence the voters to support their cause. Men have been threatened who worked against them. Workmen have been approached through the medium of their boarding hotel proprietors who threaten to raise the board rate owing to the fact they have no saloon attached, placing a premium as it were on the consumption of liquor, yet they talk morality and quote socialistic doctrine copied by the yard from the primer of that belief.

They attacked the churches, the pastors, the priests, who have dared to stand for decency and against lawlessness, have threatened reprisals by failure to contribute to the works of God, yet write letters to these same men seeking their support. Openly denouncing the cry of law or lawlessness, they have demonstrated beyond a question of a doubt that if they obtain control vice will run rampant throughout the city.

It can not then be said that the seat of the government is on the Milwaukee street bridge, if they win, but in the Red Light district, where music, lewd songs and liquor will flow freely. It will not be an invisible form of government either, but one that will flaunt its painted and bedecked faces into the eyes of all on the streets to the shame and disgrace of the city.

Janesville is at a crucial period of its civic existence. It is important that every man, standing for decency and good government, go to the polls tomorrow and vote. Every person entitled to a vote will be given an opportunity to exercise their right of franchise, but woe be to the men who violate the law for the sake of a few cents, a little drink money and promises.

The polls open at six in the morning and close at eight in the evening. It is a fight for the home and good name of the city. It is a fight for the protection of the boys and girls of today, the men and women of tomorrow. It is a fight upon the question—law or lawlessness. That is the sole issue and no other questions can be injected into the battle.

Ah, Summer Here at Last! Nantucket, July 19.—A monstrous sea serpent with a large horn in the middle of his back and a forked tongue seventeen feet long by actual measurement, was seen sporting in the water about five miles off this port this morning. It did not attract much attention as the natives here are used to sea serpents. This serpent has a nose like a horse and a voice like a circus elephant. It is believed to be 118 feet in length.

Atlantic City, July 19.—A school of singing fish has appeared off the coast here and the fish entertain the resorters every night with sweet music, singing many of the classics and lulling the city visitors to sleep. There are believed to be more than 4,500 fish in the school, which is one of the largest schools of singing fish ever seen in the locality, even by the old inhabitants. There are several inhabitants here who are more than a hundred years of age.

The Diary of Bonhead. More things can happen to a young chicken than to any other form of animal life, unless, perhaps, to a Mexican revolutionist. The young chickens I had were

Every man has two consuming ambitions in the course of his life. When he is a kid, he wants to play in the band, and when he grows up he wants to raise chickens. Playing in the band is by far the cheaper, even if a man plays a diamond-handled cornet. Almost anything, in fact, is cheaper than raising chickens.

Today I record in my faithful diary the fact that I am cured of the chicken habit. Today I gave the last few remnants of my flock and three perfectly good incubators to a man who signed a bond to the effect that he would not bring them back.

For twenty years I wanted to raise chickens. I considered the price of eggs and fowls on the open market and figured out a fortune amounting to nearly three million dollars for myself. In my mind I arranged to care for all of the poor relations and to endow three or four orphan asylums. I also figured for myself four automobiles.

It would have been cheaper for me if I had bought the automobiles first, for I could have ruined a tire every five minutes and then not have spent as much money as I did on the chickens.

What I did not know about chickens when I started to raise them would have filled President Eliot's five feet of books. What I do not know about raising chickens now would fill ten feet of books. The more you experiment with chickens the less you know about them. A young chicken is a cross between a sensitive plant and an incipient presidential boom. It generally dies a-borning. The main ambition of a young chicken is to die. If it could die before it is born, it would be supremely happy. The only happy young chickens are those found in the omelets.

the worst pessimists I ever saw. There was nothing that I could do to brighten their drooping spirits, although I tried everything, even to sitting out in the chicken yard on bright moonlight nights and playing the uaccolin.

They soon acquired the custom of rubbing it in by wadding right out in front of me as I played the mandolin and dying right before my eyes. My grown-up chickens spent all of their time in the neighbor's flower and vegetable gardens and seemed to be imbued with the spirit of race suicide. I could almost have believed them to be French chickens, born, raised and educated in Paris.

The man who took my chickens off my hands is a poor man and I feel sorry for him, but self-preservation is the first law of nature. It was either a case of going to the poorhouse, or letting him go and, after talking it over to some length, my wife and I decided to let him go.

The next time I want to get rich quick I am going to ship Swiss cheese to Switzerland or start an ice wagon route at the North Pole. There is more money in anything else than there is in chickens for a man who doesn't understand the business, and when a man does understand it he is so old that he is not greatly interested in anything. I think Methusalem might have had time to learn the chicken business.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

INTEREST.

To succeed in anything it is necessary that you be interested in that thing.

The lackadaisical, indifferent attitude gets nowhere.

If your work is raising potatoes you must be interested in raising potatoes. This means that you will find out everything possible about the subject; that it will be your especial pride to have the biggest and best crop in the neighborhood.

If it is selling calico it means that you must have your heart in selling calico, that you will know all about weaves, material and the rest and also that you will know all about the selling game.

A man to win in any task must put his whole self in that task. Interest is the thing that will put him there.

Moreover, the interest must be more than self-interest. Unintelligent self-interest is a positive handicap. It may make a man feel that he is too good for his job, and that is his finish. He must be interested in his work and in his concern.

If one's business is making shoe buttons his mental attitude must be that making shoe buttons is the most important thing in the world. And it is for him.

If he is writing a story that particular tale must be the best thing of its kind ever told. If he would make others weep he must give a laugh. If the story does not grip him it surely will not grip others.

Get on the job—every atom and thought and desire of you—get on the job!

That may not have an elegant sound, but life is something more than a drawing room.

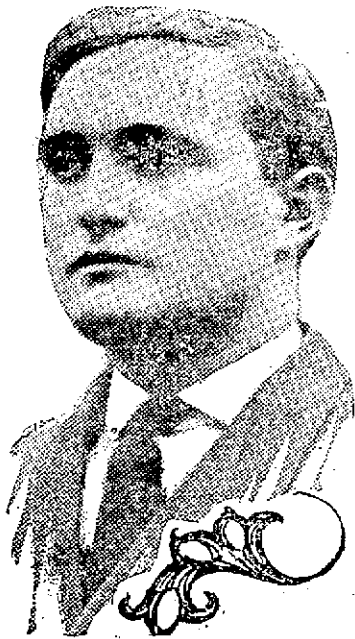

Life is a race, a wrestling match, a battle. That phase is not all of life, but is an all important part of it.

The man who wins the race is the one interested in running, who puts every ounce of himself into the effort to go under the wire first.

The man who is really interested will master every detail, find new and better ways of doing things and constantly improve his product.

His work will be his treasure, and where your treasure is there will your heart be also.

CAN SCIENCE BRING CAPTAIN SCOTT BACK TO LIFE? EMINENT FRENCHMAN SAYS YES AND WILL MAKE ATTEMPT THIS SUMMER

Dr. August de Castellane Seymore (left), Captain R. F. Scott, and sketch showing how Dr. Seymore hopes to bring the explorer back to life.

Dr. August de Castellane Seymore, a noted French scientist, claims that the body of a person frozen to death can be restored to life. To prove his contention, the Dorothea and R. F. Scott expedition, of which he is the head, has been organized to search for the body of Capt. R. F. Scott, for the main purpose, it found, of restoring the discoverer of the South Pole to life.

The expedition will leave San Francisco about June 1.

LOOKS LIKE PITCHER BLANDING HAS MIND MADE UP TO BE A PINCH HITTER

Fred Blanding in Action.

Pitcher Fred Blanding has just about convinced Nap fans that he is going to be a pinch hitter. He tried hard to win his own game against New York with his bat, making two doubles to right, each with one out. In the third inning he reached third base on a fumble. The squeeze was then called for, but Blanding had his dash across the base in vain. The pitcher doubled in the eighth, but failed to get away from second. His batting average is .359.

TO MAP TWO ROADS

Pathfinder Will Endeavor to Rouse People to Value of Good Highways.

NEW SOUTHERN ROUTE PLAN

"Oregon Trail" Will Also Be Run—Automobiling Has Meant Rehabilitation for Some of the Historic Pathways Across the Country.

Another far-flung trail across the continent is to be routed and plotted, run and mapped this summer by A. L. Westgard, pathfinder of the present "Trail to Sunset," "Overland Trail," "Midland Trail," and "Northwest Trail." In fact, this searcher of the untrodden places who takes his heritage from Boone and Clark, Lewis and the host of other pioneers, will really lay out two new trails before the snow flies—the "Oregon Trail," which will follow closely the famous route which went by that name in frontier days, and the "Southern Route" from the lower Atlantic states westward to join the "Trail to Sunset" in Arizona. His plan is to start from New York and swing a wide circle to the north and as far west as the Kansas line, rounding back to Indianapolis in time to join and pilot the Pacific coast tour of Hoosier manufacturers.

In the days of ox team and prairie schooner the plains and mountains were crossed along the lines of least resistance. The pioneers who first went over the "Oregon Trail" and the "Santa Fe Trail" were the first to leave permanent marks to guide and assist those who would follow. Travel over the Santa Fe trail began about 1822 from Little Rock, Ark., and followed the Arkansas and Canadian rivers west. A few years later, however, the trail started at Franklin, Mo. Travel and trade by this route, which crossed the Rockies by Raton pass, reached its height in the sixties. The Oregon trail of the early days started from Kansas City, Mo., followed the valley of the Platte river, crossed southern Wyoming and northern Utah, and, skirting the Snake river in Idaho, crossed Oregon into Washington.

Automobiling has meant a rehabilitation for some of the historic pathways across the continent. This is a part of the interesting work which Mr. Westgard is performing.

Some 12,000 miles will be covered by Westgard on the trip. He will follow the same methods as heretofore, endeavoring to rouse the people all along the route to the importance of good roads and touring conditions. As usual he will travel in three distinct capacities: as A. A. A. field representative; in the same capacity for the Lincoln ocean-to-ocean highway, as the great $10,000,000 rock highway project is really called, and as special agent of the United States office of public roads.

Concerning the Lincoln highway plan, which is ultimately to unite the Atlantic and Pacific by a permanent roadway, Mr. Westgard gave some inside information. Some $6,000,000 of the $10,000,000 required for materials alone have already been subscribed, it seems. A sum equal to the cost of materials will be required to build the road, but this the states and counties along the route are expected to furnish, either in cash or in labor. The undertaking is an enormous one, as may be seen from the statistics of materials required. Thus, between Denver and Salt Lake City 10,367 carloads of cement will be needed to construct the road. There are stretches along the route, according to Mr. Westgard, which will demand little work in order to make them suitable for a motor road of this importance. In Nevada, for instance, there is a stretch of some 200 miles, he says, of natural gravel or broken stone, which appears to be capable of sustaining any traffic in its present condition, and probably will not need any construction beyond the building of an occasional culvert.

NEW VENTILATOR FOR CARS

This Type is Particularly Adapted for Use in Cars of the Forward Door Type.

This ventilator is especially designed to ventilate forward cars by deflecting and forcing air into the body by a simple clamp arrangement.

Wind Shield Ventilator.

Intended to give perfect circulation of cool air, says Motor.

The brackets are so constructed that they may be readily attached, it being necessary only to remove old brackets, place ventilating brackets in position, using the regular screws and nuts, insert the wind shield, tighten screws and the car is ready for use.

Keep Tires Inflated.

Tires should always be kept inflated to nearly the pressure recommended by the makers.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

written and publication authorized by the John C. Nichols' personal committee and to be paid for by their treasurer, John E. Kennedy at the rate of 25 cents per inch.

A Plain Statement of Plain Facts

In the statement issued by the campaign committee of Mayor Fathers and published on the back page of the Gazette on Saturday, July 19th, there appears this:

"Mr. Maxfield and Mr. Smith, speaking for Mr. Nichols, charge that the seat of government, in this city, is not in the City Hall, but upon the Milwaukee street bridge. What they mean by this no one knows but themselves. We take it to mean, however, that they charge Mayor Fathers with being under the control of the local public utilities. This broad and unsupported statement loses its importance when you stop to think, that these public utilities are absolutely under the control of the State Railway Commission. There is nothing that the Mayor and Council may do for them, there is nothing that the Mayor and Council can do against them."

What "Mr. Maxfield and Mr. Smith, speaking for Mr. Nichols," mean is this. "That when in 1909 the water company compelled the users of lawn service to install meters at the expense of the consumer, it brought to a head the feeling long in existence, because of the already high rates, and also because of the irritating practices imposed upon the public. So widespread was the discontent that the then common council appealed to the railway commission.

Believing that it would fare better in the hands of the railway commission than in the hands of the council and fearing the wrath of the people, the water company surrenders its charter and flow into the arms of the commission, for protection and took out a license from the state.

The commission however, ordered the water company to reduce its rates of meter users from thirty-five cents to seven and a half cents per thousand gallons and compelled it to install meters, free to the consumer.

Finding itself no better off under the state license than under the old charter which it held from the city, and ordered by the railway commission to install meters free and reduce the rates, the water company took an appeal to the Dane County Court and had that court issue an order restraining the commission from enforcing its ruling and this restraining order holds good until the city, through its Mayor, will ask the court that the question be brought to trial and the right of the commission to make such ruling be determined.

Now the question is: why has Mayor Fathers sat quiet for almost a year and a half and why did he not instruct his appointee, City Attorney Dougherty to appear at once before that court and ask that the question be put on trial so that the railway commission may be able to enforce its ruling and compel the water company to make the reduction in rates and the installation of the meters free to the consumers? Our answer is, that it is BECAUSE MAYOR FATHERS IS UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE WATER COMPANY AND COMPLETELY IN THE HANDS OF THE PUBLIC UTILITY CORPORATIONS.

We may also ask this question: How can the people trust a Mayor to push the matter of taking over the water works, when his appointee, City Attorney Dougherty, had in a debate, opposed the question of the city buying the water works? Is such a Mayor and is such a City Attorney the proper person to negotiate such a deal when both are opposed to it and both seduced by the corporation?

Mayor Fathers and his friends say that: "If these men (the then Mayor and City Attorney) had properly performed their public duty at the time, the Janesville water works would now be the property of the city of Janesville." This refers to the way the question was worded upon the ballot—water "company," instead of water "works." Now the fact is that this matter was submitted to the railway commission AND THIS BODY HELD THAT IT WAS WORDED PROPERLY.

The Mayor and his friends are calling loudly upon Heaven to bear witness to the fact that he has driven all houses of prostitution out of the city and that our city has been redeemed from the monster Immorality, yet

At this very hour there is a disorderly house on South River street and one of its inmates, sixteen years of age, is in a delicate condition, and though repeated complaints having been filed by a neighbor with the mayor, yet no action has ever been taken.

It seems that these facts ought to be sufficient to convince all fair minded persons that we are right when we say that the issue in this campaign is not "Law or Lawlessness," but CORPORATIONS VS. THE PEOPLE.

We maintain that since the water company is threatened with the loss of the Mayor and the difference between thirty-five cents and seven and a half cents, it snatches up the cloak of morality and issues forth, in the name of "Good Government" and "Civic Virtue," to do battle for Mayor Fathers and Father Profit.

Respectfully Submitted,
H. L. MAXFIELD, Chairman,
J. S. SMITH, Secretary,
The Campaign Committee.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR VOTERS

Where Has There Been One Fact Shown That Justifies This Recall?

It Has Been Proven To Be a Political Proposition From Start To Finish.

We have just had called to our attention a circular which is the final campaign document of the Nichols' campaign committee, and we submit a quotation from it as a sample of the spirit which has been behind this whole recall. In this document they boldly and viciously charge that the Municipal League of years gone by was formed for the purpose of preventing James A. Fathers from looting the City Treasury. The following is the exact quotation. "But it is a known fact that while acting as such official (City Treasurer) it was necessary for the citizens to organize a Municipal League to stop the looting of the city treasury." We submit that the people of Janesville who know why the Municipal League was formed will recognize this statement as an absolute, premeditated, intentional and vicious falsehood. We call upon the citizens of Janesville to rebuke this outrageous slander upon a man whose standing in this community for honesty and integrity and efficiency has never before been questioned, even in the hottest political campaign. It must be that the man who made this charge is a stranger in Janesville; it must be that he knows nothing of the past history of this city, or it must be that he estimated the intelligence of the people of this city at the low water mark.

The attention of the citizens of Janesville is respectfully invited to the fact that from the earliest period of this campaign we have invited Mr. Nichols or any of his speakers before any public meeting for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to make their charges face to face. They are the ones who should be anxious to come before the accused and there present their cause. We heard nothing from them until the campaign was almost over, when there was made an eleventh hour attempt to escape the odium of a refusal to enter into a public discussion. When these men who make the accusations invited Mayor Fathers out into a public park for the purpose of this discussion, and on the last night of the campaign, when no part of the public press could comment upon the discussion and when wild statement could go unchallenged. If these men were in earnest about this matter, why did they not submit this discussion earlier in the week when the various points made by either side could be generally discussed by the voters and an intelligent estimate placed upon their worth. Mr. Dougherty, the City Attorney, called upon the Secretary of the Nichols' campaign committee, Mr. J. S. Smith, and asked for twenty minutes time at the meeting in the Court House park, which was absolutely refused. If they have the truth to say it will stand the light of day and they need have no fear who presents the opposite case. They knew well enough that it could not be accepted, other wise they would not have made it. It is clear to any fair minded man that for all political purposes this offer of the opposition to debate, might just as well have been made on the day after election. Remember the offer for public discussion was openly and courteously made from the start of this campaign and nothing was ever heard from it aside from this eleventh hour attempt to escape the odium of refusal. We even invited ourselves to address their various meetings to be held during the week and this also was positively refused. We submit that we have done everything within our power to bring the man who makes these accusations before the public, in the face of the man against whom they were made. The man who makes a charge and runs is not entitled to any consideration at the hands of fair minded citizens.

Remember that no man has dared to even charge that Mayor Fathers has been guilty of dishonesty in office. Not a dollar of public money has been misappropriated or wasted. His character as a man and a public official remains unimpeached by all of the mud that the opposition has thrown.

We ask the citizens of Janesville to note this. We have attempted to conduct a dignified campaign along serious lines; we have invited them to definitely tell where they stood upon all of the important issues presented to the voters, but this they have failed to do. Mr. Nichols in one of his speeches said: "I have never told any man how I would run this town if I was elected." This is just exactly where he is subject to honest criticism. The voters and citizens of Janesville have the absolute right to know how he will run the city if elected.

Note this. We have stated in detail the civic and moral conditions that prevailed under the administration of Mr. Nichols as former Mayor of this City and those statements have never been denied.

Note this. We have called upon the managers of the Recall campaign and their candidate to state definitely to the citizens of Janesville where they stand upon the proposition of public prostitution and the only answer that has been made comes from R. R. Lay, who made the following public statement:

"We made those girls that way and we should stick by them."

We call upon every citizen of the City of Janesville to rebuke this proposition as it has been rebuked in every city in the United States, within the last two years.

In the start of this campaign it was stated by its manager that Mr. Fathers had hurt business. It has never been stated what business has been hurt nor what measures were taken to hurt it. Nor has it ever been stated what things they would do to remedy this so-called injury to business. We note, however, that this charge has of late been almost entirely abandoned.

We call upon the citizens of Janesville to remember that many facts have been put forth showing the excellent conditions of the city's finances; showing the excellent manner in which its business has been handled and no one of these facts have been denied. As a business proposition the affairs of this municipality are in better shape today than they have been before in many years. We call upon the citizens of Janesville to realize the personal responsibility that each man has toward the result tomorrow; it is not too much to say that the fair name of this city and its business prosperity both hinges upon its result. This matter is submitted to the citizens acting as a jury and we ask that each jurymen carefully look the facts in the face, nothing but the facts should be considered. The eyes of the State of Wisconsin are turned toward Janesville and the question is everywhere asked "Can the recall be used as an instrumentality to remove a public officer who has enforced the law?" The citizens of this town make it necessary for a public officer to take an oath of office, and it is known and admitted that this movement calls upon him to violate it. Things of much importance are at stake tomorrow.

We Call Upon Every Voter In the City of Janesville Not Only To Vote, But To Make of Himself a Campaign Committee of One To See That Janesville Purges Itself of the Iniquity of This Campaign.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

FORESTALLING RIDICULE.

To make fun of others as we all know, is neither kind nor wise. To make fun of one's self is sometimes both.

For the best way to take the sting of ridicule is to forestall it. Among my acquaintances is a very odd couple, physically. I mean, she is very stout, and because of that looks easily ten years older than she is. He is slender and boyish with a debonair curl on his forehead and the quick step of youth. The result of course is that they give the appearance of being almost fifteen years apart, although I believe that in reality there is not more than a year or two in his favor.

Naturally, whenever they go to a new place they arouse more or less comment. But although this woman is necessarily slow in movement she is quick in wit. She knows their dissimilarity is sure to be a subject of amused whispers and she forestalls any such secret comment by frankly and openly referring to it herself. She freely admits that Robert weighs thirty pounds less than she does; she insists that he is only a year and a half younger than she, although, she says, with a comic sigh, "she scarcely expects anyone to believe that."

She tells how at a large reception she asked a little daughter of the hostess to call her husband for her, and that the infant terribly convulsed a roomful by saying, "Won't you please come upstairs, Mr. Harris?" Your mother would wonder.

The inevitable result of her frankness is that no one whispers jokes about her behind her back. She has taken the flavor out of any such secret laughter. Instead, we often joke her about her size openly, and she caps our jokes with her own and laughs more heartily at the whole business than anyone.

Whether this course covers a secret sensitiveness or not I don't know. If it does, she shows wonderful self-control; in any case she displays thorough common sense. For it is the only way in which she could keep herself from being an object of ridicule.

It is very disagreeable to be laughed at. To be laughed with is quite another thing. And if we laugh at our own absurdities we make sure of the latter treatment.

Recognizing and acknowledging one's faults is also a good way to take the sting out of other people's criticism of them. We can forgive the impatient man who says, "I know, I have a disagreeable temper, I'm trying to overcome it," far more easily than we can forgive the man who does not think he has a bad temper, but merely believes that other people are stupid and irritating.

In many, many ways, knowing one's self is half the battle of life.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. LIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Would you advise an old bachelor of thirty-eight years, who has seen lots of the world, dissipated a good deal, has only a fair education, an aged mother and father to care for and only fair health, to marry a pure, good girl ten years his junior? He believes she loves me, but is high-tempered.

ANXIOUS. If you have only fair health, which is probably the result of your dissipation, I cannot advise you to marry. I can advise you to get a good girl, even if she loves you. Give her a chance to marry a good man without so many burdens. If you love her you will do that.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Should black satin pumps be worn with a gray chamois dress? M. B. They would look well, but pumps to match the gown would be more desirable.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) How can I remove a milk stain from a tan colored messaline dress? (2) What is good for hangnails? (3) What causes one's nose to become shiny? L. S.

(1) Soap and warm water will remove a fresh milk stain; for an old one, sponge with chloroform, rubbing in toward the center of stain so a "ring" will not be left on the goods.

(2) Hangnails are caused by neglect to push the skin back from the nails each time you wash your hands. Soak the fingers in warm soapy water, then when the skin around the nails is quite soft, push back the skin with the towel or with an orange-wood stick, such as is in every manicure outfit. If you haven't this, take a wooden toothpick. Never use a knife or scissors, as it injures the tender part of the finger nail. Keep the skin pushed back and loose about the nails, and you will have no more hangnails. A little cold cream or vaseline rubbed about the base of the nails will help.

(3) It's the oil in the nose. Dab it with a little rose alcohol. Dilute with water if too strong.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of eighteen years and I go with a man of twenty-two years. I think a great deal of him and he, with me, is very attentive and seemingly thinks a great deal of me. He owes me a letter and does not write, which he said he would. I am not writing, as I am afraid he does not wish me to.

I am soon going to return and attend a dance where I shall meet him. I have kept no company with any girl but me for six months. How should I treat him?

Shall I write before returning home? TROUBLED. Perhaps when he sees you at the dance he will tell you what he didn't write. Be pleasant and courteous to him, neither too cool nor too friendly, and guide yourself by his actions. Do not write unless he has a very satisfactory explanation when you see him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me a remedy for eyebrows becoming together? Is it best to pull them out or does that make them come in thicker? Mine are not bad, but on close observation they are quite noticeable.

ANXIOUS R. You can have the extra hairs taken out with the electric needle so they won't return. You can pull them out with tweezers, but they will grow again, though they will not come in thicker.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY MRS. LIZABETH THOMPSON

GIVING THE MAID A DAY OUT.

When I hear women talking I feel very sure that help is a thing of the past in the average home. The comforts of home have been given up by many and they have gone to hotels and boarding houses to live because they cannot have nor keep help.

I have never given a lecture nor written an article on this much theorized subject, nor do I intend to now. Not a stone will I tear from the foundation of the help question until I have a better one to put in its place; yes, it needs several of them. But a suggestion or two might be in order.

First—the woman who regards her household as drudgery and beneath her will never make a success of it nor keep help.

Second—if she is trying to manage a home and only making a bluff at it, she may fool herself, but not her help, and they will leave very soon. Third—Set a high standard for work in the home and then have the same standard for help. We are all servants. There is and can be no exception as to our standards of work to be done are right.

I know many women who, with the above standards, have kept their "Maries" for years and love and respect her, too. Why shouldn't they? If she does her work well, the husband is a servant also, working for general manager, and he only grows in value to his employer according to the excellence of his work. In this sense he is no different from the servant employed in his home who carefully cooks the food which makes him hold or lose his position.

cup; nuts, one-half cup; butter or crisco, two tablespoons; baking powder, one and one-half teaspoons; vanilla, one teaspoonful; milk. Directions—Break the egg into the measuring cup, add the butter which should be soft but not melted, fill the cup with milk. Stir the flour, sugar and baking powder together in a bowl and last into the mixing bowl. Stir the milk mixture into the flour mixture and add vanilla. Beat well five minutes and mix well the nuts chopped or cut fine. Pour into a dozen greased gem pans. Bake in a quick oven until firm—about fifteen or twenty minutes.

The KITCHEN CABINET

BELIEVE me, every heart has its sorrows, which the world knows not, and oftentimes we call a man cold when he is only sad. —Longfellow.

SOME HOT WEATHER DISHES.

Take a stale loaf of cake, or a portion of one, cut off the top and scoop out the center, leaving a well an inch and a half thick. Crumble half of the fragments into a dish, add half a tumbler of raspberry jelly and a cup of rich custard. Fill the case with the mixture and heap over the top some thick whipped cream, sweetened and flavored.

Carrot Salad.—Cut small cooked carrots in fancy shapes with vegetable cutters, adding three chopped radishes which have been peeled, half a small cucumber cut in dice and a tablespoonful of chopped green pepper; toss lightly together and dispose in nests of lettuce. Cover with the following dressing: Whip half a cup of cream, stir in gradually a tablespoonful of vinegar, a half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of horseradish and a sprig of mint chopped fine. Garnish with olives.

Steak With Bananas.—Broil a steak until well done, place on a hot platter and spread with a tablespoonful of butter mixed with the same quantity of chopped parsley. Serve with large bananas cut in halves lengthwise and fried in butter.

Green Peas Cooked With Lettuce.—Have ready a quart of fresh peas and a head of lettuce with the leaves well washed. Shred the leaves coarsely and place with the peas over the fire in boiling water; add a small onion and a bunch of parsley; cover and cook for twenty-five minutes or until the peas are tender. Remove the onion and parsley. Cream a fourth of a cup of butter, add a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a cup of flour, and pepper to taste; add a little hot liquor from the peas, and when smooth add to the dish of peas and simmer six minutes. Just before serving add three tablespoonfuls of butter, turn into a vegetable dish and serve hot.

Bread and Butter Crisps.—Cut fresh bread into thin slices, remove the crust and roll, skewing with toothpicks after spreading with butter. Lay in a pan and brown in the oven. Remove the toothpicks and serve with soup or salad.

Nellie Maxwell. MISS STONE WANTS A RANSOM REFUNDED

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me a remedy for eyebrows becoming together? Is it best to pull them out or does that make them come in thicker? Mine are not bad, but on close observation they are quite noticeable.

ANXIOUS R. You can have the extra hairs taken out with the electric needle so they won't return. You can pull them out with tweezers, but they will grow again, though they will not come in thicker.

Miss Ellen Stone.

Miss Ellen Stone, the missionary, held captive by brigands several years ago, has appeared to Secretary Bryan to exercise his influence to obtain the passage of the bill pending in congress providing for the refund of $37,000 paid by citizens as the ransom demanded for her release. The bill has been passed by the senate, but seems to lack the necessary support in the house of representatives.

Small Boy Killed by Fowl. A fowl killed a two-year-old child at St. Brieux, France, a few days ago. The little fellow was playing outside his parents' house when a large Cochin China cock attempted to take a piece of bread from his hand. The child and the cock struggled for the bread, and the cock attacked the child and hurt him so badly that he died shortly after.

Prepared. "I knew you were coming tonight to call on my sister," said Willie. "How did you know?" inquired Mr. Stately. "Because she has been asleep all the afternoon."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing. A solution of ammonia and rain water will remove spots from the carpet.

To prevent fruit jars from a cracking when filling them, place jar on a wet, folded cloth.

After peeling onions, rub the hands with vinegar or celery if you would counteract the onion odor.

To remove old ink stains and scratches from a polished cloth wet with sweet spirits of niter. When it has soaked in, polish with chamois skin.

The Table. Sliced Orange Cake Filling.—Put in a double boiler the sliced pulp of two oranges and the grated rind of one; add one tablespoonful of flour mixed with two tablespoonfuls of water or orange juice if too thick. Just before taking from the fire add the yolk of one egg beaten with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. When cool use between layers of cake or in cream puffs.

Snow Cake.—Half a pound of butter, half a pound of sugar, six ounces of flour, six ounces of potato flour, three eggs, and one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Beat the butter to a cream, add the sugar and beat a little longer. Add the yolks alternately with spoonfuls of flour till a stiff froth, stir them in lightly and add rest of flour with half teaspoonful of baking powder, and extract. Pour into a buttered and papered cake tin. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour. Fruit Compote.—Put a quarter pound of lump sugar, one cupful of water and the strained juice of half a lemon into a saucepan, and let them boil quickly for ten minutes. Then add any kind of fruit and cook slowly until clear and tender, but not broken. Then remove the fruit on a glass dish and pour the syrup over. A little wine may, if like, be added to the syrup. Cream or custard served with the compote is a great improvement.

Banana Fritters.—Peel twelve bananas, cut them into three pieces, sprinkle with a little sugar and lemon juice. For batter, beat up one egg, add half a cupful of milk, a pinch of salt, one tablespoonful of olive oil and stir in one cupful of flour. Allow to stand in a cold place for one hour, then add one teaspoonful of baking powder. Put in a few pieces of banana at a time. Drop into smoking hot fat and fry to a golden color. Drain on white paper. Serve hot with sifted sugar.

Hawaiian Pineapple Salad.—Press one cupful of cottage cheese through a sieve, add one-half cupful of grated pineapple, one tablespoonful of cream, one tablespoonful of oil, a few grains of salt. Mix well and roll into small balls. Arrange crisp lettuce on individual plates, place a round slice of pineapple on each plate, put the cheese balls on each ring. Sprinkle with minced parsley and serve with French dressing.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

By FRANCIS JOYCE KENNEDY

The man who is trying to seat himself in our present mayor's seat is doing some arguments that are surely a wee bit off the path of truth. He says the liquor zone was made smaller to boom property belonging to certain individuals. Why then was Carl Heise given his license after he was found to be outside this zone? Was it to increase the valuation of the property where he had his place of business? Decidedly this was not the case. The revoking of Mr. Heise's license would have crippled his business to such an extent that he, his wife and family would eventually have suffered. Heise's place is outside the zone, still he continues to do business. This is as it should be. Both he and his wife had worked hard and faithfully to start their present business and common justice demands they be given a chance to continue their honest means of supporting their family of growing children.

This doesn't look very much like taking to the big men, does it? Can't imagine how any man who is the father of a family can even attend the meetings of the Recallists. They owe it to their children to support the man who stands for law and order.

Just because a few men feel as if they've an ax to grind shall the fathers of families cast their common sense to the winds and rush blindly in and aid to put a man in charge of our city who calmly stands up and delivers ideas that are, to put it very mildly, socially inclined? These men don't attend these meetings we don't blame them so much, simply excuse them on the grounds of not having responsibility to steady them. But when a man who has stood by the bedside of his wife and been forced to see her enter alone—the very jaws of death that his name may be permeated, who in a silence too sacred for words has held his fast-born son, his little daughter in his arms, and silently vowed that God helping him he would be a good father to the tiny tot that the frail white-faced woman bring before him with the light of blended agony and supreme happiness in her dear eyes is the mother of attends these meetings and by his very presence lends his support, we are indeed forced to say, "Can he possibly realize his responsibility as a parent?"

The man who at present is working wisely and well to make and keep our city clean knows what it is to raise a family. He wants our city to be a fit place for his boy and girl, for your boy and girl, and for my boy and girl to live in. He wants

"I'm Going to Move Soon"

An argument is given by some that they are not interested in a gas range because they are soon to move to some other part of the city. That's the very reason you should have a gas range. They are not heavy to move, and you can work on one to the last moment, when our fitter comes to remove it. It can be taken to your new home and connected in five minutes, and is ready at once for work, so you can have hot water to clean with, to make a pot of tea, to relieve fatigue of moving, and by its use you eliminate all the troubles and vexations of setting up a 300 or 400-pound stove, connecting up battered sections of stove pipe—and who ever saw stove pipe used in one house fitting another house?

There are so many other reasons why you should use gas that we hope you will telephone us and have our representative tell you about them. Over 1,000,000 gas ranges are in use. You cannot fool 1,000,000 people all the time. There must be a reason why gas ranges are used.

Let us interest you in that $14.50 range—you pay $1.25 down and $1.25 per month for ten months and 75c the twelfth and last payment. That's easy. It is a good stove—have sold hundreds of them in Janesville and all give satisfaction. It has an 18-inch oven, three regular burners, a giant burner and a simmerer.

MINISTERS ANALYZE THE RECALL ISSUES

HAZEN, LAUGHLIN, EATON AND
WILLIAMS SPOKE AT UNION
SERVICES LAST NIGHT.

PEOPLE ARE AROUSED

Are Ready to Fight Against the Wide
Open Town and in the Interest
Of Their Boys and Girls.

Ministers of the Baptist, Methodist, Congregational and the Presbyterian churches analyzed the issues of the present recall campaign denouncing especially the principles for which the recall is being fought. In addresses at the union services at the Methodist church last evening.

The four men were united as to real principle at stake. "There could be no doubt about it. It is a fight on the part of good government on the one hand against the violators of the law, men seeking special privileges against the men who stand for a wide open town with unbridled vice conditions, on the other."

The ministers were indignant at the stand taken by the recall faction that the clergy should keep "hands off" of the campaign. The day when a minister is invisible six days of the week and irresponsible on Sunday, is passed, was their contention, and their interest extends to every walk of life in which they can render service. Especially do they consider it not only their right but their duty to stand for an administration which means protection for the boys and girls of the city against vice, and to fight the element which seeks to allow the town to run with a free hand, without suppression and without regulation.

The Reverend J. C. Hazen, of the Baptist church spoke briefly of the problem of city government which was a general one throughout the country. The attempt at reform must be made and is continuing in nearly every urban community. In our own city we have effected a change in the form of government from the common council controlled by the liquor interests and the political ring responsible to them, to the commission plan.

Reviewing the first few months of government under commission rule Mr. Hazen noted that as soon as the present administration came out into the open and decisively for regulation and law enforcement, there was an element in the city whose toes were stepped on. Who they realized that this new course was to be followed in, they banded together to effect a recall of the officials.

"There is no mistaking the issue," said Mr. Hazen. "It is clear and we stand on the side of the men who stand behind the recall campaign. They are fighting for the wide open town and the conditions which are obtained by the free and unbridled violation of the law with respect to saloons, gambling, houses, and certain other places."

"And the present administration has come out squarely for law enforcement. That's the issue. Law enforcement or a wide open town. You hear a lot of talk about the water works. I could talk for a few hours on the booze works."

Rev. Hazen outlined reasons why Janesville voters should re-elect Mr. or Fathers. Briefly they are: because he is a square, clean honorable man, both in and out of office; because it is impossible for any man to put his finger on one corrupt, dishonorable act, on one wrong thing that he has done; because he has stood squarely for compelling the saloons to obey the law and has regulated conditions in the city as they have not been regulated in a quarter of a century.

Reasons why he could not vote for the recall candidate were outlined: because when the present candidate was in the mayor's chair he did not attempt to do the slightest in the way of reforming the city's moral conditions; because he stands not only as the candidate for the recall element, known as such, but of the light of the men belonging to which he admits he is indebted for his part in business.

Light is just beginning said Mr. Hazen, and if the recall administration lost at the polls on Tuesday, which he was confident it would not, the supporters of good government should stand together for the next opportunity to elect a man who would do the slightest in the way of reforming the city's moral conditions.

Dr. J. W. Laughlin of the Presbyterian church declared that the citizens of Janesville, the members of all various churches, have now a common interest and a cause for the support of which they can band themselves together in a determined fight. He was glad that the ministers were taking their part in the contest because he felt they had interest in the realm of politics and government, especially when the issues at stake involved the morals of the city and the protection of the boys and girls from vice.

Dr. Laughlin declared that he stood for the idea of the initiative in municipal government. The men in power should study the moral welfare of the community as well as the other problems of their administration and should initiate a moral tone into the life of the city.

"These men have seen that there is a great moral sentiment in Janesville," declared Dr. Laughlin, "and the people aroused by it have made their demands for a clean town. Let us rally to the support of the man and the administration that has recognized this situation and stands for the enforcement of law and opposed to the old conditions."

Who composed the present recall party in Janesville? asked the Reverend David Benton of the Congregational church. "Those who sold the liquor to the two blind boys, those who sold the liquor to the two boys who are now in prison for the awful crime they committed as a result of their intoxication, and those who have been running a wide open town for years. Nichols is responsible to the town."

One of the most vicious things in the present campaign is the recall. It is being used by the recall element to divide the working man against the rich and the well-to-do as if there could possibly be any difference in the matter of the principles of men in the matter of the recall. It is a home and their city, whether they are receiving a daily wage or a salary. As there is any man who can say that Mayor Fathers' administration has done anything which has not been to the interests of the working man."

"No class of people suffer from liquor troubles as the working man and the man's deadliest enemy. The saloon is the enemy of everybody and especially of the poor."

Believe that the time has come when Janesville will assert itself, I am impressed by the moral response which has prevailed throughout this

Until a short time ago, scarcely one person in a thousand had ever tasted a really good soda cracker—as it came fresh and crisp from the oven.

Now everybody can know and enjoy the crisp goodness of fresh baked soda crackers without going to the baker's oven.

struggle. The people have become awakened and are alive to the issues before us.

The Reverend T. D. Williams of the Methodist church asked the question, "Why vote next Tuesday, and answered it as follows:

"Because the good name of our city is at stake."

"Because our financial interests as a community are at stake. There is a vital relation between morals and cash. You won't get people to come to Janesville in thousands if the city protects the saloonkeepers, the gamblers and the harlots."

"Because the safety of our boys and girls is at stake. Shall we write doom over our city hall at the polls on Tuesday? The ballot is our pebble which stands for unbridled iniquity."

Mr. Williams said he was sorry that the women were not allowed to participate in the election as they were as vitally interested and had as much at stake as the men.

The audience room of the church was well filled for the meeting.

JAPAN HAS PROBLEM OF WOMAN'S RIGHTS FOR ITS SOLUTION

Cry for "Emancipation of Women" Being raised in Oriental Empire—Prepared for Education.

(By Associated Press.)

Tokio, July 21.—The "New Woman" question has come to the fore in Japan just as it has in the Occident and has aroused almost as much attention as the woman rights problem in foreign lands.

The Japanese woman, compared to her sisters abroad, has occupied a modest place in the life of the Empire and has been held greatly in subjection. But advanced opinion agrees that the Japanese woman is entitled to greater freedom and wider intellectual activities than hitherto has been allowed her.

A cry for "emancipation of women" from "domestic slavery" is being raised by a number of educated girls, who call themselves "Blue Stockings." These "new women" do not clearly specify what they wish to accomplish, but in a general way they defy the old order of things laid down for the female sex. They have their own publications and occasionally arrange public meetings for the propagation of their ideas. They have a club of their own, and gather for nightly woman's rights discussions.

However, these are the extremists. Their utterances and their mode of life have shocked conservative Japan. In fact, some of them have been so radical in their action that the authorities have invoked the law to restrain them. Only recently a number of magazines for women were suppressed on the ground that they were "injurious to society."

Dr. Okuda, Minister of Education, is of the opinion that the discussion of the woman's rights question may not be dangerous to the mind of women, who are well educated and have been well trained in mind, but he added the view that "it will excite injuriously the minds of ordinary women, or in other words, will cause a general vanity among them." He asserted that nine out of ten women who discuss such a problem are the victims of the "unreal influence of vanity."

After the observance of the first anniversary of the death of Emperor Meiji at the end of July, the court will begin active preparation for the coronation of the new emperor, who is now quite well again after his recent attack of pneumonia. A coronation will take place in the fall of 1914 and will be attended by great splendor and magnificence. An Imperial Coronation Commissioner will soon be appointed. It is likely that this office will be bestowed upon H. H. General Prince Fushimi.

The date for coronation will be fixed and published with the signature of the Minister of the Imperial Household and the Minister of State. At the same time the Emperor will announce the date at the Imperial Sanctuary and will send messengers to the Great Shrine at Ise, to the mausoleum of the Emperor Meiji and to the mausoleum of Emperor Mutsuhito and Komei, to proclaim the forthcoming coronation.

One of the early preparations for the coronation will be the planting of a new spring of sacred rice to be used during the ceremonies. Already rearrangement and repairs of temples and old palaces of Kyoto, where the coronation will take place, have been completed for the suitable reception of the foreign envoys and special missions.

Emigration to South America. Although the emigration of Japanese to the United States has been practically stopped, what is known as the "gentlemen's agreement," the exodus of emigrants to South America is increasing. One of the principal causes of this is the establishment of the Brazilian Colonization Company by Baron Sibiawaga and other prominent Japanese for the leasing of land in Brazil. An agreement with the Brazilian Government provides for the settlement of 2,000 Japanese families in the next four years, and a start has been made in sending these people across the Pacific. It is likely that rice cultivation will be the chief occupation.

The majority of the Japanese emigrants are in Hawaii and the United States, with South America and Canada next. There are 800 Japanese working in the rubber plantations in Malaya Peninsula. Already there are 8,000 Japanese laborers in Brazil engaged in the cultivation of coffee, about 1,000 in Peru in the cultivation of potatoes, 11,000 in Mexico mining and 2,000 in Australia. Official figures place the number of Japanese in the Philippine Islands at 3,000, chiefly engaged in the production of wax and potatoes, while there are 500 employed in phosphorus mining in the island of Guam, which belongs to the United States.

Japan will help Adorn Hague. Palace at The Hague will be beautiful pictures of flowers and birds, elaborate worked upon silk tapestry. In variety and arrangement, such blossoming trees as the cherry, purple magnolia, paulownia, wisteria and nallia, and flowers such as the lily, peonies, partridge and dandelion, together with rows and pheasants, pigeons, sparrows and swallows. Of the nine pieces and represent a majestic landscape. These tapestries were designed by Hoshu Kikuchi, a famous Japanese artist, and their manufacture was started in November, 1909, and has only just been finished.

Successful Wireless Phone. Japanese inventors have made a successful wireless telephone apparatus. Instruments were installed on board a ship and at two points in the city of Yokohama. After a series of experiments it was found that "communication" was possible at a distance of 20 miles, and that a short message was exchanged even at a distance of 60 miles. The department of communications will open the new system for the use of the general public.

Soured on Afternoon Teas. "Then you don't like these afternoon teas?" "Too rough on the nerves! Here's the situation: I gotta hold a sandwich in my mouth, a plate of cake in one hand, a cup of tea in the other, and nothing to set anything on but a grand piano."

Schlitz Brown Bottle Claims Authenticated

by Dr. Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology. We reprint from his letter.

"Our observations, extending over the last twenty-five years, have convinced us beyond a doubt that exposure of beer to light has a very detrimental influence on its quality generally, but especially upon the flavor of the beer."

We have tested beers repeatedly in this direction, placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable, on account of the peculiar odor developed.

The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are therefore recommendable."

He quotes famous authorities to corroborate his opinion

Authorities on the subject of the detrimental influence of light on beer are:

C. Lintner, Lehrbuch der Bierbrauerei 1875, S. 343.
Beck, Zeitschrift für das gesamte Brauwesen, 1882, S. 370.
V. Huth Der Bierbrauer 1876, S. 127.
Ney, Allg. Zeitschr. f. Bierbr. u. Malzfabr., 1878, S. 273

Light cannot harm Schlitz in Brown Bottles. It is made pure and then kept pure.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

FLATTERY.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

FLATTERY is the art of mistaking a woman forty-five years of age for her sixteen year old daughter, and getting away with it. It is composed of several ingredients, ranging from the diplomatic touch to unadorned flattery. It is a science, and is used with much success by people who wish to secure on inexpensive stand, in the wholesale and retail trade.

Flattery is one of the prerogatives of the male sex, and is used by men in all walks of life, from the highest to the lowest. It is a science, and is used with much success by people who wish to secure on inexpensive stand, in the wholesale and retail trade.

A great advertising medium—The Gazette Want Ad Page.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns, fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.
